FOREWORD

“Great is the art of beginning . . .”

For with the beginning comes the blood of new youth. Youth and vitality are assembled from all parts of these United States. With the beginning comes a new understanding. Not only has it brought the understanding of the present, but an increased awareness of the future and the responsibilities to be faced. For as youth steps out into the world, it is filled with the sense of duty and devotion to add to the progress of civilization. It is up to the youth to better social and economic standards, to promote the understanding of good health and to advance knowledge. With this heritage, the beginning is now!

DEDICATION . . . .

To Virginia Lapie —

For being friendly and kind . . . for showing understanding and patience
. . . for giving guidance and direction in these past three years — the Class

Class History

Three years ago was the beginning — the beginning of a new chapter in our lives and a new book in the history of our school. Our beginning in nursing will forever be linked with the opening pages of this book.

In the first few pages we were introduced to a new school of nursing and we became pioneers in the two year program with internship. In keeping with the new program we wore a new gray uniform topped by a new white, square, organdy cap. As we proudly walked through the corridors we felt like ambassadors of the great new hospital which had resulted from the merger of two equally renowned institutions.

During our first two years we were busy learning about our chosen career. We learned the techniques, procedures, and the importance of interpersonal relationships. At the same time we learned how and what it means to be professional. We set the pattern which would serve as a guide for years to come.

Our "Twin Sis" Program is one which we shall always remember. This took place because the physical merger had not been completed and we needed to become acquainted with our sister class. We often met for parties, dinners, and picnics. Also not to be forgotten are the numerous incidents related to moving back and forth between the hospitals. There were many hectic and yet strangely enjoyable times in which we packed and unpacked as we transferred our belongings to and fro.

Class History

By the end of our Junior year the merger was complete. In small groups we began to migrate to Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital. Now our central home was truly in the Medical Center. We worked hard and became members of the growing hospital — we helped to promote the team plan for total nursing care.

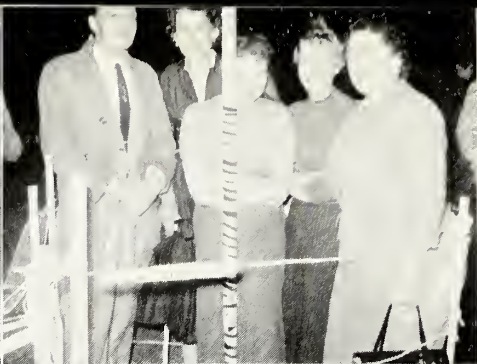

September 1959!! How impossible it had seemed two years before that we would reach that day of Internship. No longer would we be regarded as students, but rather as Interns! As we walked down the aisles of the church our future in the year to come was not so difficult to grasp. Our hearts were filled with dreams of what these new pages would disclose.

We were the first to enter the Internship Program. In our new uniforms we composed a dim, hazy, white line throughout the hospital. We now entered the final phase of our formal nursing education — that of practicing as members of the professional nursing staff. As team leaders we met new responsibilities and learned to relate to other personnel, thus becoming an integral part of the hospital.

The year has flown by quickly and now graduation is in sight. We shall be the first to receive the new graduation pin with its cross of blue on a field of gold. "We solemnly pledge ourselves before God and in the presence of this assembly . . ." — with this we enter our new profession realizing that these words will forever live in our hearts.

Class of 1961

All the pieces of knowledge are coming together with time and study. As Juniors we have tried to make the foundation for our future work more solid. Some of the previous obstacles and problems no longer seem so great and we can now laugh at the mistakes we have made. We are in the middle — the past year has flown by and yet it seems as though the end is nowhere in sight.

 song.

"The Boy Friend"

Weeks of laborious work, faithful cooperation, and seemingly endless rehearsal are rewarded with glowing success and a hoard of wonderful memories.

Around School

Together we work, together we live. Pictures recall the scenes which we have shared these past three years. They will not be soon nor easily forgotten as we remember sharing the latest news at tea, rushing to get signed in before that last minute's grace, the numerous injections and gruesome monthly chore of weighing in, cramming for that big med-surg exam, and the countless frolicking times we had together.

I'll never volunteer my services again!
Afternoon Tea, the pause that refreshes.
My gosh, I got a letter!

But Miss Fry, all I wanted was an aspirin.

Never put off till tomorrow
what you can do next week.

Aha, another candidate for conditioning class!

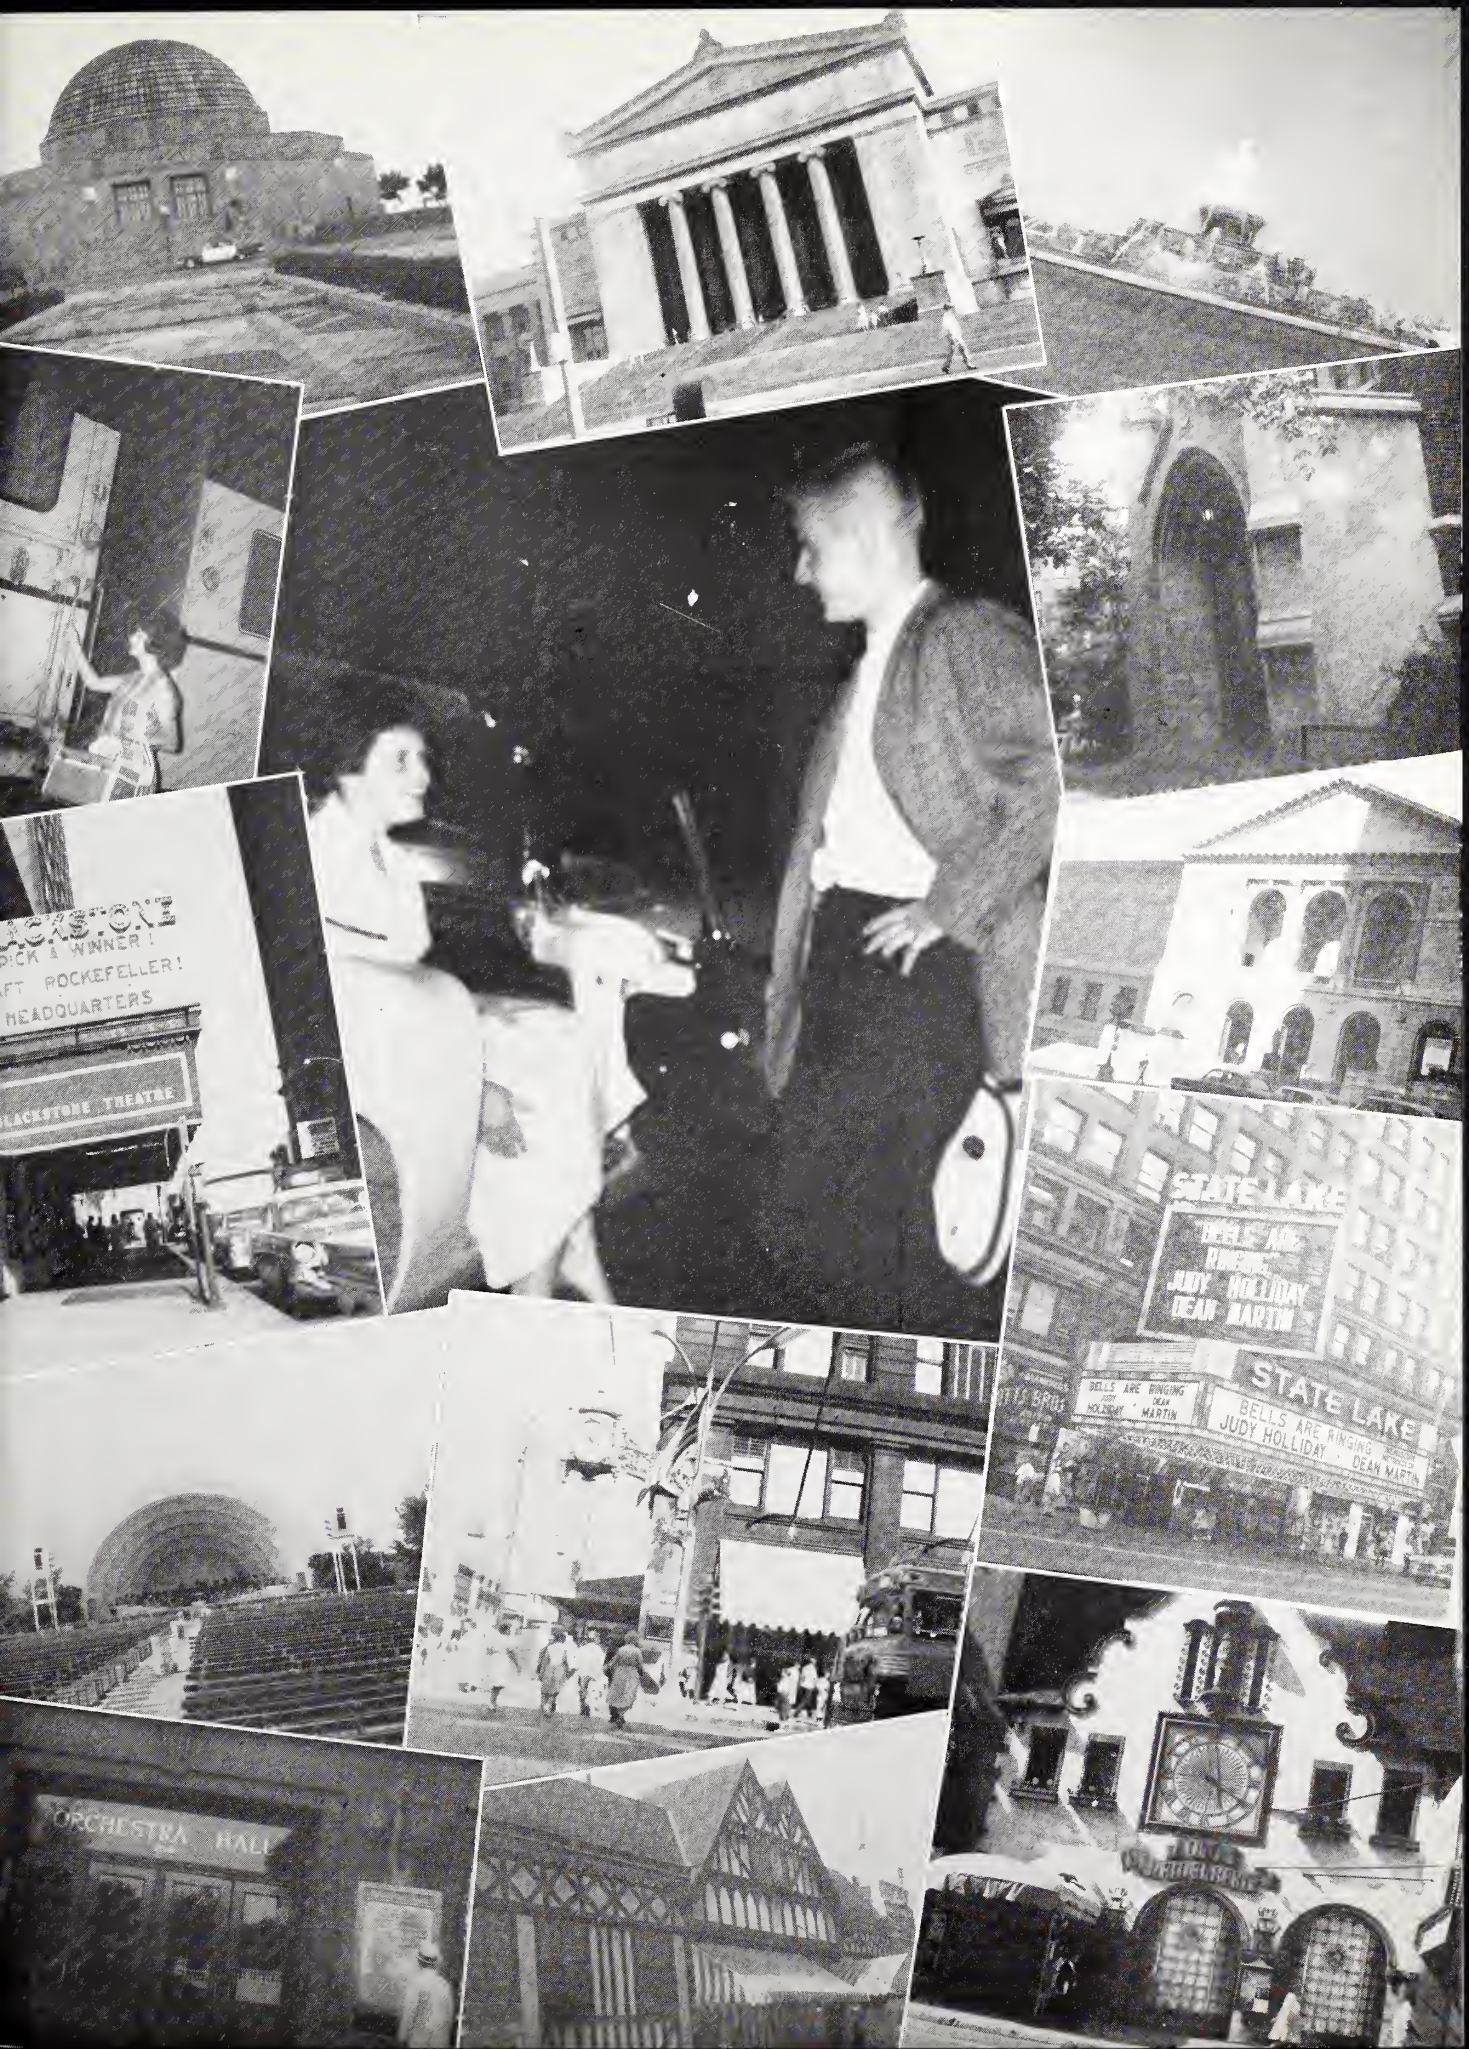

A package from home! We eat this week!

Would you girls like to see the rooms?

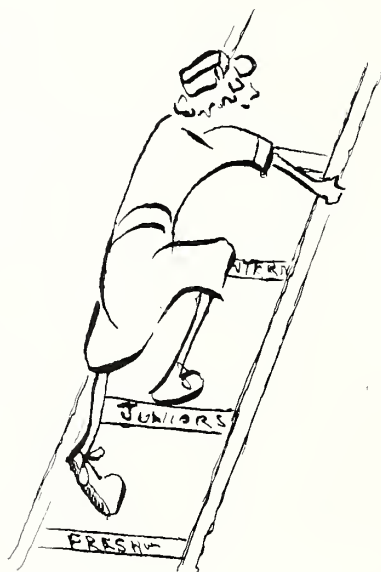

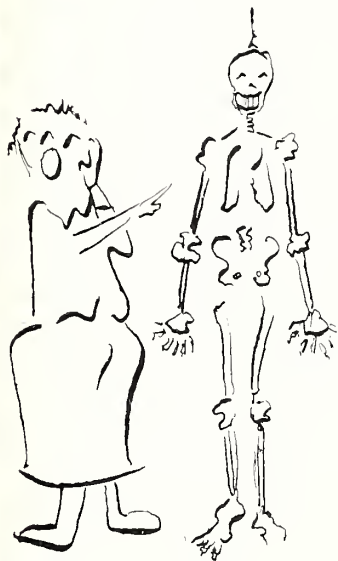

You know, we really ought to have a barbecue down here sometime.

Getting In Shape

Aching muscles, healthy competition, and wholesome fun combine to improve our physical fitness.

A gay sociable evening on that precious night off duty will surely seem to pass by all too quickly.

Chicago is home at least for 3 years. To all it is a stepping stone to new, exciting, and distant places.

An afternoon with "Vic" Peterson, Executive Secretary of the Duncan YMCA, Medical Center Branch.

So we have begun and so we shall continue, in an upward way, following the footsteps of those who have gone before us. We shall keep ever alive our guiding vision of life so precious and offer unfaltering service to mankind.
